

Karen®

a magazine made out of the ordinary

The third issue of award winning KAREN MAGAZINE.

KAREN MAGAZINE is more interested in sell by dates than celebrity. KAREN documents the mundane of everyday life, gently observed by Karen, the publisher herself.

KAREN has become cult reading among those that have discovered her. The first two issues of the magazine sold out both nationally and internationally.

KAREN is a very extraordinary ordinary magazine. In KAREN magazine fashion is a T-shirt about the emotional world of the potato and beauty is about goose pimples on the beach. There's a coalman and a butcher and Roger with his bad feet.

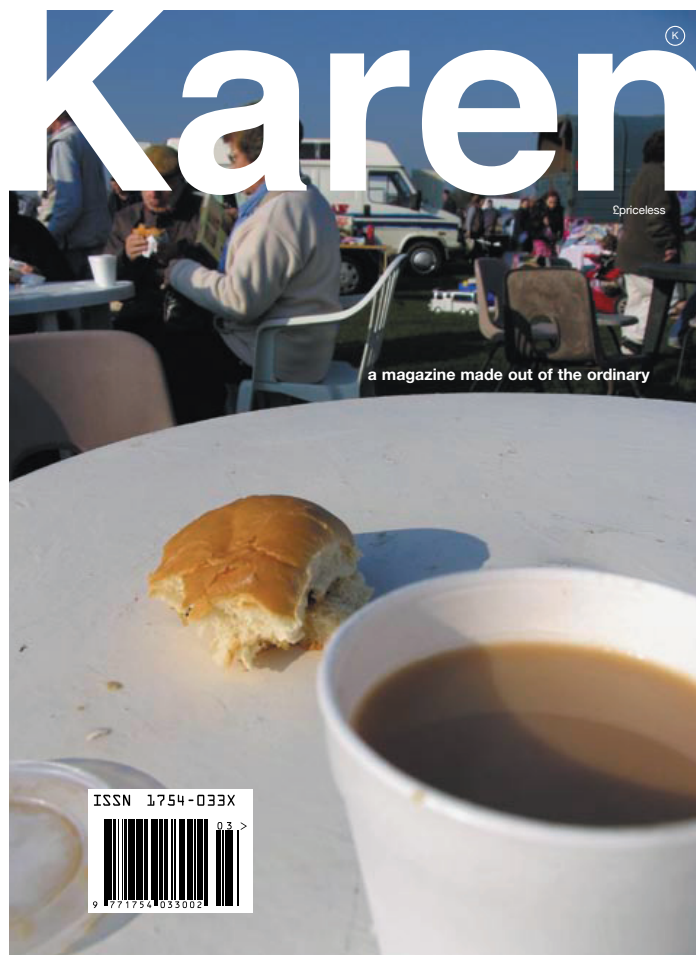

A glossy magazine without the gloss. And as it says on the cover of this this little piece of reality: Priceless!

'Karen succeeds in weaving its humble subject matter into something poetic, profound, absurd and joyful. One issue of this magazine is more interesting than every issue of every other lifestyle magazine in the world put together.'

David Shrigley, artist, from The Observer newspaper's 'The best-kept arts secrets in Britain'

'Karen is in a very English lyric tradition of exalting the unconsidered, from Gray's Elegy and Wordsworth's Daffodils to Alan Bennett's Talking Heads.'

Mary Blume, International Herald Tribune newspaper, 'An antidote for the culture of celebrity'

'A cult bestseller.'
EMAP Publishing Award Winner
Best Lifestyle Fanzine 2005.

'An utterly original publication based on the mundane.'
The Independent Newspaper Media Weekly.

ISSUE 1 and 2 SOLD OUT
